PUT HOUSE IN ORDER HARDING'S PLEA

Delivers Speech in New York Last Night at a Dinner

OUTLINES HIS AIM

Warning to Aliens— Introduced by Root—Promises Aid to Business—Same Theme For All.

New York, May 24.—Bringing to a close a day so filled with engagements that he scarcely had time for a moment's rest, President Harding, in a speech at a dinner last night celebrating the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the New York Commercial, urged the co-operation of every factor of American business and industry to put the nation's house in order after the dislocation of war.

Speaking extemporaneously at the conclusion of his prepared address, the President said:

"I would like for you captains of industry to know an aspiration of the present Administration— it is to inaugurate an era of understanding. I want an understanding between the Government and the people—an understanding between nations.

"I want our America to have nothing to do with any nation that is not willing to sit at the table and show its cards."

The President declared that he wanted those who came to our shores to understand that their coming to this country imposed on them an obligation, in addition to according them the privilege of becoming American citizens. He wanted it understood, he added, that they must give as well as receive from the Government.

Late yesterday afternoon at a regimental review in Brooklyn of survivors of the World War, the President voiced the prayer that America might be a nation so righteous and so just that "we shall never be called upon to make war so long as God and men rule together." And this morning at the memorial service for 5,000 war dead held on the army piers in Hoboken, he had made the solemn declaration, "It must not be again."

At the luncheon of the Academy of Political Science, in the Hotel Astor shortly after noon, the President faced more than 1,000 men and women, notable in all walks of life who are giving serious thought and attention to public economy and the crying need for reduction of national expenditures. With his right hand laid over his heart in a characteristic pose, the President re-echoed the sentiments expressed by Elihu Root, who introduced him. He promised to use a knife on governmental expenditures and sacrifice the time-serving job holders regardless of past or present political associations.

Agriculture, labor and business management, the President declared in his speech at the Commercial's dinner, all must stand together for reconstruction. He asserted that although the United States did not want to live in isolation or selfishness, its duties to the rest of the world could best be performed by giving its attention first to the rehabilitation of its own resources.

On the part of the Administration, Mr. Harding promised that Government interference with business would be reduced to a minimum, while Government co-operation with all properly conducted business would be broadened. He declared his purpose to reverse the tendency in some quarters "to regard business as dishonest until it should

DEMANDS FACTS OF TROOP OPERATIONS

Berlin Sends Note Declaring Order Depends on Allies

FRENCH ARE RESTLESS

Declares Commission is Authority In Silesia—London Sends Military For Moral Effect.

Berlin, May 24.—Over crippled telegraph and teelphone wires come reports from Oppeln that the Germans and Poles are engaged in heavy artillery and machine gun firing all along the Oder, especially in the vicinity of Krppitz. Both sides are intrenching and the people in several of the towns are panic stricken.

Paris, May 24.—France has sent Germany a request that she reply within 24 hours to the note dispatched Monday, regarding the sending of German troops and military supplies into Upper Silesia, which gave warning that the sending of German troops or munitions into Upper Silesia would be considered a warlike act.

Premier Briand today wired French representatives in Upper Silesia, asking for confirmation of reports that German volunteers had attacked Uolish insurgents there.

It was reported that if the attack were confirmed, Briand would lay the facts before his Cabinet, with a request that energetic action be taken to carry out his recent declaration that "France will not remain an inactive spectator" if the Germans invade Silesia.

Polish and German war in Upper Silesia flamed up with renewed strength today.

In regular military formation, two columns of Germans, lightly armed for the most part, were marching against the Poles. The insurgents were reported giving way before the Germans.

Premier Briand must make good or back down on his threat to advance into the Ruhr in the event of a "warlike" act by Germany in Upper Silesia if reports are confirmed that German troops have attacked the Poles in the disputed territory. The only apparent way out of a tense situation is to have those German troops identified as natives of Upper Silesia. Just now they are identified as Prussians, Bavarians, and Wurtembergers, well organized and operating with the connivance of the German government.

Commencement.

Hundreds of thousands of the youth of our land are these last days in May preparing for what is called "commencement." Soon well over a half million girls and boys will step from the doors of our universities, colleges, and high schools, to begin the more serious duties of life which good citizenship in a democracy requires. For them, with their eager upturned faces toward all that is lofty and ambition-appealing, it is the land, not of beginning again but of actual beginning. All things are new to them. Great unknown highways of adventure open up on every hand. Great wrongs to be righted, challenge to high courage. Vast problems of science invite solution. Good books to be written, beautiful pictures to be painted, splendid songs to be sung, homes to be made and lives to be lived, these, all these, are the pathways of opportunity which lead away from the old doors at commencement time.

The youth of America, the intelligent and intellectually trained youth, who have their commencement this year have at the same time a great chance and a great responsibility. The reaction since the World War against all that is idealistic and spiritual has left the country in the mire of dull money groping and hard-boiled realism. It is the day of practical politics The standpatters who despise progress unless it may be measured in dollars and cents are at the helm. It is the day of low estate in art, music and literature. They are all being deadened and commercialized. Art for art's sake is almost dead. And all of it that is not under the deadly pall of commercialism is splotched into pandemonium by a lot of freaks. And even the forces of religion are settling back into the old ruts of before the war.

Was there ever a greater need for a real commencement?

The South and the Supreme Court.

The death of Chief Justice White leaves the South, with the single exception of Justice McReynolds, unrepresented in the great judicial branch of the national government, the Supreme Court. In that respect loss of Justice White is to the South not only the loss of a great and respected jurist of which she was proud but the loss as well of a degree of representation on the Supreme Court to which she is clearly entitled.

President Harding has a great opportunity in naming the new member of the highest tribunal in the land to translate some of the rosy boquets he has thrown the South into practical action. There are dozens of members of the Southern bar anyone of whom if named would serve with distinction and credit to the appointing power.

The Supreme Court derives its power to a singular degree from public confidence and esteem. President Harding should give careful consideration to the question as to whether or not to further increase the Republican majority in the membership of the court and to deprive a great section of the country almost totally of representation is calculated to lessen public confidence in the nonpartisanship and disinterestedness of the court's decisions.

Neither George Sutherland of Utah, nor ex-President Taft nor Secretary Hughes should be appointed in Justice White's place. The appointment should go to a Southerner and a Democrat. Otherwise the political and sectional equilibrium of the Supreme Court will be seriously threatened.

Lady Bancroft, Famous Actress and Author, Dies

Londo, May 24.—Lady Bancroft noted actress and author, died yesterday at Folkestone.

Lady Bancroft, whose maiden name was Marie Wilton, was married to Sir Squire Bancroft, in 1867. She left her family, which was one of the oldest in Gloucestershire, very early in life to become an actress, playing child's parts. She appeared on the stage after her marriage to Sir Squires, who was for twenty years manager of the Old Prince of Wales and Haymarket Theatres, during which modern revival of the stage was started.

Alleged Wife Slayer Dies

Hagerstown, Md., May 24.—John Rhone, who, it was charged, killed his wife, Annie C. Rhone, at Fiddlersgreen last Monday, and then shot three bullets into his head and cut his throat died last midnight in the Chambersburg hospital. He did not regain consciousness from the time he was found along side the corpse of his wife in a stable at their home.

DREADNAUGHT'S GENEROSITY.

The Dreadnaught Athletic Club of this city is to be commended for its effort in arranging a baseball game next Saturday for the benefit of the Salvation Army, an institution whose charitable and noble deeds make beacon lights in the world's march to civilization. Touched by their appeal for help, boys who have returned from the grim struggle of war remember the tenderness with which the kind hands of this organization served them, and back to peaceful pursuits once more, they volunteer to entertain the public for funds to finance an institution they know to be worthy of any help they can give.

The Dreadnaught Club in making this suggestion undoubtedly shows good sportmanship and all good citizens should individually, or collectively assist them in promoting athletics for themselves and others because it is an organization that has done many good things for Alexandria.

THE LEE HIGHWAY

The Alexandria Gazette:

The Lee Highway Association will find that it is much easier to name roads and put sign boards on them than it will be to construct them. If the people see to it that the present road program is carried out and the Little River Turnpike is improved from Alexandria to Fairfax Court House, it will perforce be the Lee Highway. I feel to leave historic Alexandria with its many places of interest to tourists out would be a great mistake.

Yours very truly,
Capt. T. M. Hamilton.

Watch Your Diet
---the doctors say---

That means a quality selection of what you eat. For instance, in Bread---which is the "staff of life" YOU want to be sure that it is ABSOLUTELY PURE. And you cannot be sure of that unless each and every ingredient used has been carefully tested---scientifically judged.

In CORBY BREAD nothing is taken for granted. We subject every ingredient---every step of the making---to the severest of tests. WE KNOW WHEN WE SEND A LOAF OF CORBY BREAD OUT OF THIS BAKERY THAT IT IS

100 per cent pure; and
100 per cent nutritious

Therefore if you include CORBY BREAD in your diet you are sure of the two essential things—PURITY and NUTRITION.

prove itelf honest and to regard bigness in business as a crime."

Emphasizing the importance of agriculture, the President asserted that the farmer was entitled to "all the help the Government can give him without injustice to others." For the wage earner he asked sufficient compensation for comfort, education and a margin of savings, while for every other element in industry he urged a fair opportunity to do its part in the reconstruction task. Mr. Harding also sugested that the nation's loans to the Allies be put into a more tangible form, that facilities of exchange be bettered and that in all the financial policies of the reconstruction period be so formulated as to protect the gold standard.

The same theme spoken before the living and before the dead—brought tears to his eyes and to the eyes of those who had followed him through a day's program crowded with events. His audineces listened to his every word—attentively, earnestly—but it was at the military functions that he stirred tehir emotions.
